HANDBALL IN SCHOOLS

WHAT?

Using the Olascoaga method for physical education and sport, students experience entertaining and captivating handball sessions that include games ideas to develop game sense, tactical games and team work development.

Benefits of the sessions include:

- Students are engaged and practice fundamental motor skills through small games.
- Students learn how to play as a team and share the ball.
- Students learn the rules that go with the game.

We will provide experienced qualified physical education teachers registered with the Victorian Institute of Teaching, a full police check and insurance that are trained to coach by applying the Olascoaga Method. Working with teachers and developing their skills as Handball coaches is a priority for us as when you obtain knowledge, you are able to further transfer the expertise to your students.

Professional development is available for teachers in your school with a certificate of attendance for your professional development needs.
